Dear Friends,

It is difficult to believe that 2016 is just about gone, and we are about to enter 2017 and walk on new, rediscovered or repaved pathways on life's journey. Oftentimes, as we walk such pathways, we find ourselves faced with significant challenges and triumphs, ascending mountains or descending into some of the deepest valleys; gripped with fears, self-doubts, loss of self-confidence, and feelings of failures.

Yet, after experiencing multifarious feelings of discouragement and uncertainties, many of us summon up the strength and courage by the grace of the (Almighty God) to rise up, roll up our sleeves and get back to completing the task(s) at hand.

That is the reality for many community-based non-profit organizations seeking to serve their communities. Many struggle with cash flow, employee turnover, lack of paid staff, program volunteers and decreased capacity to operationalize their mission statement or see the fulfillment of their vision. Oftentimes, community-based non-profit leaders do not recognize the many cultural, economic and non-traditional assets of the nonprofits they operate. Instead, they choose to focus on limitations and liabilities.

Many of the above statements are true for most small to midsize community based non-profit organizations. Often, leaders lack strong awareness of what their nonprofits bring to communities by just being in the community.

We forget the many non-traditional assets at our disposal such as the ability to "build community" by engaging in targeted and embraced community initiatives that can bring about fundamental transformations of the neighborhoods we serve.

We also forget that positive community transformation is only possible through working in partnership with neighborhood residents, political, business, faith-based, health, educational and cultural systems to not only remediate the social problems that present themselves at our doors, but also to build the innate capacities of individuals, families and neighborhoods to thrive.

We often failed to see our organizations as community stakeholders with the capacity for serving as community conveners to address identified community concerns or opportunities and involve the community in working together at identifying problem solving approaches that can be implemented to bring about positive change.

As the Executive Director of MCFS, I would be the first to acknowledge that I have been totally guilty of many of the defeatist statements written in the above paragraphs. I have occupied myself with the thoughts of our organization's limitations and have often failed to see MCFS as an asset-based community non-profit organization. Yes, our funding is indeed limited, but our vision of building an increase capacity to provide culturally targeted educational, social and behavior support, home care services for diverse populations groups residing in the greater Philadelphia area remain alive.

To be reminded that MCFS is culturally and uniquely positioned to serve as an agent of transformative community change is empowering and exhilarating.

As we near the end of 2016 and look forward to 2017, we do so, ready to begin our steps, walking on exciting rediscovered pathways and hoping that each step forward will effectuate positive change in the lives of those, that will no doubt, intersect ours.

My hope is that community based nonprofit leaders reading this article will embark upon their own discoveries and make 2017 a year of outcomes and impact. It is my further hope and request that you, the reader, would consider joining hands with MCFS by supporting our work with your financial and in-kind support. When you do, you contribute to increasing our capacity to meaningfully impact our community one life, one challenge, one opportunity at a time.

Wishing you happiness, health and good fortunes in the New Year.

-Portia Kamara,
Executive Director

MCFS Staff, You are Appreciated

Thank you to the entire MCFS staff for your hard work and dedication throughout the year. You all are truly one of the best teams ever. At MCFS, our staff wears many hats. It is common for staff to be asked to support the agency and clients by performing tasks outside of the scope of their position, but never outside of the scope of their qualifications. Our team never complains about these tasks. They always show up ready, willing and beyond able to carry out any assignment given to them.

If you ever feel like you are not appreciated, and I hope you never do, you are appreciated. If you ever dare to think you are not making a difference in our community, I beg to differ. If you ever think that your contributions are insignificant, they are not. You are truly valued and appreciated.

The Elder's Circle

The Elder's Circle offers support services for older adults ages 60 and up. The group meets twice weekly from 11am to 5pm at MCFS. Seniors receive case management, immigration, literacy, ESL and advocacy support from ESL and social service specialist staff. The group currently has 25 immigrant participants from Liberia, Kenya and India.

This year, the Seniors went on field trips to various venues including an overnight trip to Atlantic City, a tour of City Hall Dilworth Plaza and a Philadelphia 76ers Basketball game. We are so proud of the genuine bond of friendship formed between group members as well as their consistency and dedication to attending the senior center. The group also hosted The Elder's Circle gathering where over 75 members from our community attended. We were honored to have Denise V. Stewart, Director of COSA, was the guest speaker. The event was a huge success and provided an opportunity for our group members to speak showcase their crafts while meeting other members of our community.

MCFS would like to thank all of our Elder's Circle Members and Volunteers. Thank you for entrusting us with your time, your presence and your talents. We truly value you all.

Staff Appreciation

Capital Campaign 2017

As the end of the year approached, our ED and staff reflected on what was accomplished through MCFS programs in 2016. We are proud and honored to be in the position to provide supportive services throughout our community.

The goal for 2017 is to expand our office space. This additional space is essential to our goal of increasing our program capacities, continuing our support group, education programs and expanding our ability to host community gatherings/meetings.

This is a huge endeavor and if we were to be totally transparent, the processes involved are exciting but intimidating. We will press forward in faith reflecting on the fact that MCFS has been fortunate enough to accomplish every goal set since this agency was founded in 2003. We press forward with purpose, confidence and eager to funnel our resources into our community.

We will be hosting major fundraising events throughout 2017. More details will be coming soon! We ask you, our community, our supporters, our colleagues and friends to consider supporting us in our Capital Campaign.
